Before scheduling an appointment, please contact your health insurance provider to understand your coverage for behavioral health services and to determine if the agencies and/or individual therapists listed below are in your provider network. Be sure to verify fees and payment options with treatment provider and/or counselor when scheduling.

Substance Use & Addiction Service Providers

These agencies provide a variety of substance use early-intervention, dependency, and addiction programs for adolescents. They all offer a free initial assessment and refer to various programs including individual & group counseling, low-intensity/outpatient programs, and residential/inpatient programs. When you call, ask for an initial substance use assessment.

Individual Counseling Agencies

These agencies provide individual (and sometimes group) counseling by therapists with a CADC license (Certified Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Counselor). They offer assessments (usually for a fee, billable to your insurance) and then make a recommendation for a treatment program if necessary and/or offer individual counseling services. When scheduling, remember to ask for a therapist who has a CADC and verify insurance and/or fee payments.
